

Web Developer for The Endometriosis Network Canada

Role Title: Web Developer

Position type: Part-time ad-hoc Freelancer

Start Date: Immediate

Time commitment: Variable week to week, up to a maximum of 5–6 hours per week.

$28–32 CAD per hour based on experience.

About the Organization

The Endometriosis Network Canada is dedicated to enhancing the lives of individuals living with endometriosis across Canada. As a registered charity in Canada founded in 2012, our measurable impact includes providing support and education to thousands of Canadians, developing dedicated programs for underserved communities, raising awareness, and impacting policy across Canada.

About the Opportunity

The Endometriosis Network Canada is seeking a part-time freelance Web Developer who is passionate about making a difference in the endometriosis community. This individual will enhance our online presence and support our mission to improve the lives of those affected by endometriosis. The web developer is responsible for designing, modifying and programming content on the website and landing page. The individual will work closely with our operations team to design, develop, and maintain our website, ensuring it is user-friendly and accessible.

We are seeking an individual(s) who:

- Have experience in front-end and back-end development and have a strong proficiency in HTML for structuring web pages, CSS for styling and layout, JavaScript for interactivity and dynamic content generation and PHP.
- A minimum of five years experience with web development
- Resides anywhere in Canada with lived experience of endometriosis or who is committed to making a difference in the endometriosis community
- Set up to work remotely
- Excels in a collaborative, virtual environment
- Accountable and motivated, with the ability to work independently and with a team
- Bonus: previous experience working or volunteering with a nonprofit organization

The website developer will be responsible for:

- Integrating graphics, audio, and video into the website
- Designing, coding, and modifying websites on the WordPress platform, including all aspects of the website, such as layout, functionality, and user experience
- Understanding UI, cross-browser compatibility, and general web functionality and standards
- Utilizing web applications and programming languages
- Manage both back-end and front-end development, including creating WordPress themes and integrations with plugins

How to apply:

For individuals interested in pursuing this opportunity, please submit your resume and cover letter to: info@endometriosisnetwork.ca

Application closing date: Open until position filled.

Please note: only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted.

A note for prospective applicants

The Endometriosis Network Canada invites applications from individuals who enjoy working collaboratively as a team, and who support the mission, vision and values of the organization. We are strongly committed to equity and inclusion and welcome applications from individuals from communities that have been historically and intentionally excluded, including but not limited to: Black, Indigenous, other racialized persons, persons with disabilities, persons of diverse sexual orientations and gender identities, persons from rural, isolated, newcomer, or northern communities and others with skills and knowledge to productively engage with the endometriosis community.

We are committed to achieving full accessibility for persons with disabilities by arranging for any necessary accommodations.

In an effort to diversify representatives from across Canada, The Endometriosis Network Canada will prioritize applications from people living in areas that are traditionally under-served by endometriosis support initiatives and health services.